

Christopher McCoy

(845)-656-7301 · cb19mcco@siena.edu

Education:

Siena College- Loudonville, NY
Bachelor of Science - Computer Science, Minor - Mathematics

Expected May 2018

Webutuck High School- Amenia, NY

September 2009 - June 2013

Technical Skills:

- Professional experience programming in Java
 - Fluent in Python, C, and MIPS
- Concrete understanding of Windows vista/7/8/10 and Ubuntu systems
- Experienced with database administration through Oracle and basic SQL Syntax

Work Experience:

Student Researcher
Siena College Institute for Artificial Intelligence, Loudonville, NY

May 2016 - August 2016

- Participated in the National Science Foundation (NSF) funded Research Experience for Undergraduates (REU) program on Artificial Intelligence and Text Analysis
- Worked with a team of four members and explored the steps in developing a system to use machine learning to detect cyberbullying
- Tools used during the ten week summer program included: Weka, Lucene, Java and Python programming

Siena College Information and Technology Consultant
2013-Present
515 Loudon Road, Albany, NY 12211

September

- Part of a team responsible for password resets, basic LAN services, and hardware maintenance for over 3,000 students and 300 faculty members.
- Submit and manage help desk tickets using a proprietary issue tracking known as JIRA
- Provide regular on-site support multiple times per week in both the school library and the science building, as well as remote assistance

